

Bobby Witt Jr vs Framber Valdez – Scouting Report

	Notes
Valdez	Facing RHH, Valdez works with his Sinker and Curveball and mixes a Changeup as well. SI are typically thrown for a Strike while CB are less likely to cross the zone (60% Out–Zone Rate). SIs cross over the heart of the plate a third of the time. The main chase pitches are the CH and CB both having high whiff rates and even higher whiff chase rates. His CB is a very dangerous pitch eliciting a chase whiff of 70%. Most successful pitch is his CB, and next is his CH would expect these pitches to be thrown against Witt. Both CH/CB do not go for extra bases would be ideal to throw against Witt. Most likely to start off with a SI but against Witt could see a CB or CH to mix it up. Put away pitch is his CB, when Valdez is ahead 1–2, 0–2, or even 2–2 CB most likely to be down and in out of the zone compared to earlier CB that can go for a strike. The SI lives mainly over belt high over the middle of the plate, would expect Witt to be able to get ahold of his SI if thrown for a strike and CH is consistently low and away. Hammering CBs low would mitigate any extra base hit risks against Witt.
Witt Jr.	Facing LHP, Witt stays disciplined against SI chasing only 17%, watch for chasing the CH/CB both over 50% chase rates. Would expect Valdez to throw majority CB and CH outside the zone against Witt. Witt has a 40% hard–hit rate on chases CH, along with an overall 60% in play rate. With a .434 xwOBA against SI and a .333 ISO would be ideal for Witt to wait for a SI especially one that is in–zone. Witt does not swing much at the first pitch except against CH (41% 1st Pitch Swing). Would make sense to drop a CB in the zone for a called strike to get ahead early. As the PA goes on, pitches in the zone will almost certainly be swung at. Early in the count does not chase too much but CH he is pretty consistent chasing it. Fastball to Breaking Ball is a dangerous 2 pitch sequence for Witt, chasing the breaking ball 57% of the time and a 30% whiff rate. Valdez might going SI to CB in his matchup. Witt likes the high fastball but anywhere in the zone expect a hard hit against a fastball. Witt will go for the outside CH, would not recommend leaving it up however. Jumping early on a SI over the middle of the plate will probably be the best pitch he sees in the PA otherwise Valdez will go to his CB low.
