

Yordan Alvarez vs Brady Singer – Scouting Report

Player	Notes
Singer	Facing LHH, Singer mainly works with his Sinker/SL and will work in 4S/CH. He likes to throw the Sinker for a Strike, but will tend to go low and in with the Slider vs LHH. Chased Sliders yield at 71% whiff rate, which makes it a tough pitch to hit. Outside Sinkers have a hard-hit rate of 25%, better odds at getting a Sinker to hit on in-zone. Starts off with SI/SL combo and will work with a 4S early in the count, but as PA goes on stays with SL. Put away pitch is the Slider, and with 2 strikes rarely in the zone. Early Sliders tend to be outside on LHH, then as he gets ahead will attack in with the SL. Behind would expect a Sinker that is in the and Ahead expect an out of zone Slider. 4S lives up and away, Sinker tends to be more over the middle of the plate and belt high. Slider is used in and low on LHH when Singer is ahead, but behind or even, Slider will be more outside on the LHH. Overall expect a mix of Sinkers worked over the middle and low, and Sliders outside early and then back inside (SL–SL combo has a 40% chase rate).
Alvarez	Facing RHP, Alvarez mainly sees 4S but has seen a decent amount of Sinker/SL mixes. Rarely whiffs on the Sinker, and struggles a bit on the Slider. Chase whiff rate on the Slider is over 50%. Will take advantage of pitches thrown over the middle and has a heart hard hit rate of 65% on the Sinker dangerous to pitch there against. On Sinkers thrown in the zone, has a .585 xwOBA, heart Sinkers has .701 xwOBA. Zone swing rate on first pitch just about below 50% which means could sneak in a Slider to get ahead early. Extremely disciplined early in the count, as PA goes strike zone widens. First time seeing swings about 40% on first pitches, but has a .596 xwOBA on first pitch Sinkers (.136 on SL). Hard-Hits on SL come belt high in-zone right where Singer likes to throw his Slider when he is behind. Does not swing too often at Sinkers thrown outside and low which is typically where Singer throws his Sinker in even and behind counts.
